No. 3 on Congress street, Georgetown.

The degree of Rebekah has been introduced here, and meets with marked favor among the brethren, as well as among the ladies, for whom it was especially designed. Quite a large number of ladies have received the degree, we have been informed, and it is thought it will eventually become a great and general favorite. Many of the elders here look with little favor upon the new degree; but they are beginning to relent somewhat in their opposition.

Presbyterian Conventions.

There are in session at this time annual assemblies of the Representatives of three branches of the Presbyterian Church in the United States The largest of these bodies is represented in the "General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States" convened at Charleston, South Carolina. From the time when, a few years since, ic cut off from participating in its legislation several of its Presbyteries, on account of alleged departure from orthodox Presbyterian-ism, it has been designated as the "Old School Presbyterian Church.

The next in point of influence and numbers is represented in the New School Presbyterian Assembly now in session in this city. This branch of the denomination is composed of the exscinded Presbyteries, and such as seceded from the Gencral Assembly to unite with them, together with their increase to this time.

In addition to these two bodies, there is convened at Alleghany city, Pennsylvania, the General Synod of the Associate Presbyterian Church of North America. For the above particulars we are indebted to a member of the Presbyterian Church, who thinks they may be useful to many of our readers. [Intelligencer.

Weather-Wise!

We find the following notice in the Republic of this morning:

"Dr. L. L. Chapman, of Philadelphia, has, it would seem, made the wonderful discovery of physical laws which regulate the changes of na-ture with such uniformity that premonitions of their occurrence may be obtained to any future period in advance. We are informed that premonitions of the aurora of the 23d of April, of the cold changes of the 24th and 27th, the windy and electrical condition of the elements on and near the 24th, 30th, and May 2d—so exactly fulfilled in the numeral thursday and start of the electrical condition of the elements on and near the 24th, 30th, and May 2d-so exactly fulfilled n the unusual thunder-gusts and storms of wind, hail, &c .- were all published, some time before their occurrence, in the Monthly Rainbow, a curious and interesting sheet, devoted to his discoveries. We have evidence before us, which leaves no room for doubt, that he expressed his premonition of earthquakes near the close of April, some time before that of the 29th instant occurred as stated in the local items of the various news-

GENERAL SCOTT AT HOME -Elizabethtown, May 22, 1852.—At a meeting of the Whigs of the old borough of Elizabeth, held this evening, in accordance with the call of the county committee. ance with the call of the county committee, seven delegates were elected to represent the township at the State convention, to be held at Trenton on the 24 of June, for the selection of delegates to the National Convention. The meeting was entirely barmonious, and resulted in the selection of seven warm friends of the old hero. who is destined by the suffrages of the people to fill the highest office in their gift-the office of President of the United States.

Elizabethtown was long the residence of General Scott; and this expression of feeling of his old friends and neighbors is a sample of the general feeling throughout the State, which only needs the nomination of the old hero to call out an enthusiastic and victorious response at the polls next November .- Tribune.

Protection from Lightning.

Protection from Lightning.

THE undersigned, being the duly appointed Agent of Speaty's Electrican and Electro-Metallerants Lightning. The undersigned, being the duly appointed Agent of Speaty's Electrican and Electro-positive elements combined in their manufacture; thus rendering them equal to copper as conductors. They are in ten-feet lengths, with a socurately-fitted brass-screw connecting joints, an entire new style of metallic (patented) attachments, for brick or frame bulldings; also, glass isolaters, of a nevel and ingentious construction, (patented), forming a lock; the whole frame bulldings; also, glass isolaters, of a nevel and ingentious construction, patented, forming a lock; the whole frame bulldings; also, glass isolaters, of a nevel and ingentious construction, patented, forming a lock; the whole inconstruction, surrounded at the base with three angular negative magnets, which possess the power, to an extraordinary extent, of discharging the opposite elements of the most fearful thunderstorm, and embrace the entire perfection of science up to the present time; the whole constituting the mest magnificent and perfect silent conductor ever presented to the public.

Safety has not been compromised by affording these excellent rods at such low rates; the greatest attention has been given to their construction, so as to be readily statched. The astonishing power of the negative magnets, in discharging the air of its opposite elements, has been clearly demonstrated by the Electrometer, when unmagnetized points have shown but slight results, though placed under the same conditions. In fact, they gather and silently discharge electricity from the atmosphere when you would scarcely suspect any being present.

These improvements being secured by double letters patent, you are hereby cautioned against laying yourselves liable, by purchasing of those who are not authorized, or who are substituting inferior imitations. All agents duly appointed can show their certificates. Have good rods or none.

I do hereby certify that I have app lied various powerful chemical re-agents to Spratt's Patent Points for Lightning-Rods, and that the results of these experiments convince me that they will resist the action of atmospheric causes, and thereby preserve the extremity sharp—a condition most essential to protection against lightning. The re-agents used in the above experiments were a solution of chloride of so-dium, (common sait.) acetic acid, sulphuric acid, and hydrochloric acid. With the first, there was no action on the metal; with the several acids, there was very slight—a fact sufficient to show that atmospheric influences would have no sensible effect.

The Lightning Conductors of Mr. Spratt, offered to me, are well calculated to perform the office for which they are intended. Yours, truly,
Prof. ROBT. PETER.
LEXINGTON, KY., February 20, 1850.

This may certify that I have examined, somewhat critically, James Spratt's Patent Lightning Rods, and that I am of opinion that it is constructed on scientific principles. For combining durability, cheapness, and efficacy, I deem it equal, and I think superior, to any other rod ever offered for my inspection.

equal, and I think superior, to any other rod ever offered for my inspection. Prof. JAS. V. Z. BLANEY.

AUGUSTA, (GA.) November 11, 1850.

This will certify that I have examined the Lightning Rods, Metallic Points, and Isolating Attachments, manufactured by Mr. Spratt, and regard them as constructed in conformity to the general laws of the electric fluid; and the metallic compound constituting the Points, as promising, from the result of several tests to which they were submitted, to resist for years the action of those atmospheric causes most likely to corrode them.

A. MEANS,

Prof. Phys. Sc., Emery College, Ga., and Prof. Chem. and Pharm., Medical College, Ga.

The Lightning Conductors put up by Mr. Henry M. Smith, of this city, on the plan of Mr. Spratt, appear to me to be very well devised; and, in point of mechanical construction, are the best I have ever seen.

It is to be hoped that the use of these Rods may become general, as an important auxiliary defence against a danger

WILMINGTON BOAKDING SCHOOL

FOR BOYS.—This institution is situated in one of the healthiest parts of the city of Wilmington, entirely beyond the settled portions of the fown. The uniform healthfulness of the location may be inferred from the fact that, since the establishment of the School, about twenty-eight years, very few cases of serious indisposition have occurred among the pupils, and not a single death either here, or from diseases contracted while here.

The course of instruction includes, besides the ordinary English branches, Natural Philosophy, Chemaistry, Physiology, History, Rhetoric, the various branches of Mathematics, and the Latin, Greek, and French Languages. Particular attention is paid to the higher Mathematics and their application to Mechanics and Engineering; the latter and Surveying are taught practically by field operations, with the use of appropriate instruments. Lectures on Natural Philosophy and Chemistry, in which all the important principles are illustrated by experiments, are regularly delivered before the students.

As the object is to make the instruction as thorough and practical as possible, no expense has been spared in providing suitable apparatus. It is believed that, in this respect, the Institution will compare favorably with any similar one in the country. A carefully selected library, of more than one thousand volumes, containing works on the various branches of Literature and Science, furnishes ample reading matter, while a Laboratory, fully supplied with apparatus and tests, contains all that is necessary for practical instruction in Chemical Manipulation.

The school year commenced on the third Second day (Monday) of the Ninth month, (September,) and is divided into four quarters of eleven weeks each, leaving a vacation of two months, from about the middle of the Seventh month (July).
